The purpose of this information collection exercise is to provide information on film industry and market information for reference of the members on film industry, enabling them to grasp the performance of the Hong Kong film market and the overall situation of the industry in the year. The annual reporting of the information also facilitates members of the industry to understand the annual changes and development of Hong Kong films.

Definition

In this Compilation, "Hong Kong Film" is defined as follows:

- A. The relevant films are Hong Kong films if all presenting companies are Hong Kong incorporated companies; or (in the case that not all the presenting companies are Hong Kong incorporated companies, please refer to requirements in point B below)
- B. The film must fulfil both of the following two requirements:
 - 1. at least one of the presenting companies is a Hong Kong incorporated company; and
 - 2. of the following five valid posts, 50% or more of the posts shall be held by Hong Kong permanent residents: producer, director, screenwriter, leading actor and leading actress.

"Valid post" means a post to be held by a person, for example, the leading actor and actress in a documentary about animals are not valid posts. If there is also no screenwriter, either the director or the producer being a Hong Kong permanent resident satisfies the requirement. In general, if all the five posts are valid posts, three of which need to be held by Hong Kong permanent residents.

Hong Kong films satisfying the definition in point A are referred to as "Hong Kong productions". Hong Kong films satisfying the definition in point B are referred to as "Co-productions".

In addition, the length of the relevant films shall be 60 minutes or above, and the films must be officially released in Hong Kong theatres (the release date of the film refers to that of the date of official release, excluding midnight and preview screenings) and the sale of tickets must be open to the public.

"Chinese-language films" (or "Chinese films") mainly refers to films produced in Chinese language (Putonghua or Mandarin). Broadly speaking, films produced in Hong Kong, the Mainland, Taiwan or Macau and in Chinese or in Mainland dialect are referred to as Chinese films.

"Chinese films" mentioned in this Compilation refers generally to films produced in Chinese or Mainland dialect and that Hong Kong is not involved in the production.

"Foreign-language films" refers to films not produced in Chinese or Mainland dialect and that Hong Kong is not involved in the production.
